

IncomeShares Launches Europe's First SpaceX and DRAM Income ETPs

New listings complete Leverage Shares' SpaceX range with leveraged long, inverse and income strategies

London, UK – 9 July 2026 – Leverage Shares, Europe's largest single-stock ETP provider¹, today announced the listing of four new ETPs across European exchanges, headlined by two IncomeShares options-based income ETPs — Europe's first income ETPs linked to SpaceX and to memory (DRAM)².

Less than a month after SpaceX's public-market debut, the launch completes a three-part SpaceX toolkit — leveraged long, inverse, and options-based income exposure — and grows the IncomeShares platform to more than 55 ETPs with AUM approaching USD 200 million.

The income ETPs trade under the tickers ELNY (USD) and MSKY (GBx), and DRMY (USD) and YDRM (GBx) on the LSE and in EUR on Euronext Amsterdam, with Xetra trading from 13 July 2026.

The four listings span two themes: SpaceX exposure — long, short, and income — and the memory semiconductor cycle via an income strategy on DRAM.

Product Highlights

- SpaceX Toolkit: The IncomeShares SpaceX (SPCX) Options ETP — Europe's first income ETP linked to SpaceX² — joins the 3x Long SpaceX ETP and the new -3x Short SpaceX ETP, giving investors leveraged, inverse, and income-generating exposure to one of the most talked-about stocks in the world
- Memory Income: The IncomeShares Memory (DRAM) Options ETP — Europe's first income ETP linked to memory (DRAM)² — complements the leveraged and inverse DRAM ETPs listed in June, adding an income angle on the memory cycle
- Germany Debut: With the Xetra listing of the 3x Long SpaceX ETP (3XAI) on 13 July, Leverage Shares brings the first 3x SpaceX ETP to Germany³

Momentum

IncomeShares, Leverage Shares' income-focused product line, reached USD 189 million in AUM at the end of June — up approximately 65% since year-end 2025 — and is now approaching the USD 200 million mark. The two new listings bring the range to more than 55 options-based income ETPs. Group-wide, Leverage Shares reported a record USD 1.6 billion in AUM in May 2026 and generated USD 10.7 billion in trading turnover in the first half of the year — including a record USD 2.6 billion in June alone — on pace to exceed the USD 21 billion recorded across all of 2025.

Both income ETPs feature options strategies designed to target monthly income while providing exposure to the underlying assets.

“One month after one of the most anticipated public-market debuts of a generation, investors are looking beyond simple ownership. They want the ability to trade SpaceX long, short, or target income from the theme,” said Oktay Kavrak, Head of Communications & Strategy at Leverage Shares. “And DRAM is the heartbeat of the AI trade — and now investors can target monthly income from that theme too.”

All four ETPs are available for trading in USD, GBx, and EUR denominations across the London Stock Exchange, Euronext Amsterdam, and Borsa Italiana from 9 July 2026, and on Deutsche Börse (Xetra) from 13 July 2026.
